Report brands standards at failing school unacceptable

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW primary school judged to be "inadequate" is set to become an academy in a bid to drive up standards.

Longwood Primary and Nursery School, in Paringdon Road, was placed in special measures in December but since then the quality of education has continued to decline.

Educational authority Essex County Council is now searching for a "strong sponsor" to reopen the school as an academy in the "very near future".

However, teaching unions have warned that academy status does not automatically lead to improvements.

In a letter sent to the school and published on the website of education watchdog Ofsted on May 7, inspector Tim Bristow wrote: "The quality of education provided by the school has declined further since the last inspection. The arrangements for staffing and leadership are not fit for purpose."

He said many of the school's teachers and teaching assistants were employed on temporary or supply contracts, adding: "One of the consequences of this turbulence in staffing is that behaviour has declined."

"Pupils with the most challenging behaviour are not looked after effectively because the adults who work with them are not well enough trained."

In February, Essex County Council appointed an Interim Executive Board to help turn around the school. It has secured additional leadership from a consultant headteacher together with a full-time special needs co-ordinator.

But Mr Bristow said the IEB has had insufficient time to have an impact. "Communication between the school leaders, the local authority and IEB are not yet good enough," he added.

"The school is receiving a lot of advice and support from a number of partners. However, this is

UKIP celebrates victories in council and Euro elections

LABOUR narrowly retained overall control of Harlow Council in Thursday's local elections but the big winners on the night were the UK Independence Party which now has five councillors, pictured above. Supporters are also celebrating the election of three UKIP MEPs to represent the East of England in the European Parliament.

of the instability of the staff team and leadership."

The Secretary of State for Education has been informed of the situation and the school will not be allowed to appoint newly qualified teachers until the next Ofsted inspection.

An Essex County Council spokesman said: "Longwood Primary School has been judged to be inadequate and that the educational standards there are unacceptably low.

"As a result of this the council as the education authority and the Department for Education are working together to establish a plan that will strengthen the leadership within the school.

"These plans include the provision for the school to become a sponsored academy and it is hoped that the appointment of a strong sponsor will be approved by the Secretary of State in the very near future."

He added: "Parents of children at the school will be kept informed of the progress that is being made and in order to ensure that they are properly engaged a meeting is being arranged after the half term break to bring them up to date with the developments on the school's actions, the progress with the academy conversion and the recruitment of staff for September 2014."

The school, which was formed in January 2011 following the amalgamation of Peterswood Infants and Paringdon Junior schools, is also receiving support from Stewards Academy and the Harlow Education Consortium.

Hard work helped marvellous May celebrate her 100th

MAY MITCHELL

A GREAT grandmother who has celebrated her 100th birthday attributes her longevity to a happy family, clean living and hard work.

May Mitchell, who lives at Alexandra House care home in Hamstel Road, Harlow, celebrated her very special birthday with her family. She has three children - son Harry, 76, and daughters Mary, 74, and Ann, 71 - seven grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Her late husband Harry also celebrated his 100th birthday.

Son Harry said: "We are very proud that both our parents have lived to enjoy their 100th birthdays and receive cards from the Queen.

"Mum has always been a homebird and takes great pleasure and interest in her growing family. She has always supported us 100 per cent."

In her younger days May helped run the office side of her husband's coach business. She owned her own car which was bought by her parents when she was 18 and would often drive to Portsmouth to take the first ferry to the Isle of Wight and visit family or go sailing with her husband-to-be.

"She was one of the first women to own her own car which was a Ford shipped over from Canada," said Harry. "We can't remember the name of it but it was very posh for the time and she was very proud of it.

"She reckons that's why dad chatted her up - so he could have a ride in it. It led to 70 years of happy marriage."

He added: "Mum's hobbies over the years were dressmaking and crocheting, both of which she is extremely good at. After retiring she also took up gardening and was still mowing the back and front lawns at the age of 96."

Plea to bring back park pitch and putt

A FATHER-of-two has started a petition to reinstate the pitch and putt course in Harlow Town Park.

The petition has been generated on change.org - a website for people around the world to create petitions in the hope of bringing change - by Harlow resident John Mustafa.

Mr Mustafa, 43, of School Lane, has already spoken to Golf Wise, the company that once ran the pitch and putt many years ago. It has said it would be interested in running the town park facility.

The petition, which calls on Harlow Council to restore the course, had already gained more than 240 signatures by yesterday afternoon (Wednesday).

Mr Mustafa, who is part of the Town Park User Group committee, said: "I live in the Town Park and grew up in Harlow. There are still signs around for the pitch and putt and often when I'm walking with my sons in the summer people who have travelled from elsewhere ask where it is.

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"I have spoken to councillors and everyone seems interested. It is about helping to revive the park and getting people outside and active."

He added: "The town used to have a cycle stadium, ski slope, the swimming pool with the slides and tubes and the pitch and putt. The black mats are still there, it really just needs a park gardener to get it back to standards.

"The two brothers who own Golf Wise said they would be up for running it again but would need the council's help."

Residents who have signed the petition, have also left their reasons for signing on the website.

Lisa Carter wrote: "Often missed this and thought it would be great to have it back, and the land and even the little hut is just there waiting. Such a great memory from childhood and something positive we could do with our children now."

Colin Ringer added: "Fond memories of using it as a child and there is nowhere for our children to go now, if we can get one thing back then it's got to be a good thing."

Cllr Mark Wilkinson, who is stepping down as leader of Harlow Council, said there were no plans to restore the pitch and putt course.

"It is very unlikely that the council would have money available towards reinstating this facility," he said. "However, we are happy to listen to suggestions and work with the community and organisations to explore the idea further."

To sign the petition, visit www.change.org/en-GB/petitions/harlow-council-please-bring-back-the-pitch-and-putt-in-the-town-park.

Damaging cars will not solve the town's parking problems

SIR There have been far too many unfair complaints regarding pavement parking. Do these people honestly think that we want to park on the pavement?

I have spent thousands on a new car only to have it scratched by some moron who objected to pavement parking. Why don't these people take their anger out on the council instead of car owners, who have to pay hundreds every year to keep our cars on the road?

It is not unreasonable to want a parking space near to our homes. In Pear Tree Mead there is an old abandoned park and also a grassed area which is already being used for parking. It could be put to better use such as allocated parking which is desperately needed all over Harlow.

Without a doubt the town's parking problems will only get worse. It is not the responsibility of car owners, it's up to the council to find a solution and unfortunately until they do, more cars will be forced to park on the pavement because we have no choice.

I have to agree with your correspondent Ann Lilly (Letters, May 15). We are not ignorant or inconsiderate in where we park, that title goes to the people vandalising our cars.

To all those complaining, you obviously have no idea how frustrating it is to drive round and round the block every day. You are lucky if you find a space on the path left alone the road as there's just nowhere left to park.

We need a solution and vandalising our cars won't solve anything.

Gayle Clarke
Pear Tree Mead, Harlow

Why weren't we consulted over school expansion plans?

SIR A month ago whilst talking to local residents, I learned that Holy Cross Primary School has radical expansion plans to double its capacity.

I was incensed because as a local elected representative I had received no briefing and as a local resident I had not been consulted.

I am well aware of the need in Harlow for more primary school places to meet the needs of our young people and their parents and I see no reason why Holy Cross should not consider expansion. However, the roads infrastructure and specifically parking provision does not currently exist to support such a development and the increased demands are not catered for in the plans.

Despite the double yellow lines on Tracys Road, anyone who travels that route between 8.30-9am and 3-3.30pm will see all too clear what the current problem is and that parked cars spill into neighbouring housing estates. The consequences of unchecked expansion are a major concern.

I understand that beyond publishing information online, direct consultation has been restricted to letters to three houses in Spencers Croft on Tracys Road. This is a mockery on many levels for the implications go far beyond that stretch of road and will have implications for all residents in Spencers Croft, Longfield, Stile Croft and Tilbury Mead. In addition, the road connects at the other end to the perpetually congested Southern Way.

I have asked council officers to raise my concerns and objections and I am grateful to county councillor Karen Clempner for also pursuing the matter. However, a response from the cabinet member for education and lifelong learning at Essex County Council suggests the plans are advancing at a pace with no proper public consultation.

Unbridled significant expansion of our primary schools would be as irresponsible as unbridled housing expansion without the necessary infrastructure to support it.

Advancing such plans without full and proper public consultation would be an affront to anything that I recognise as being democratic.

Civic Centre, Harlow

We're so grateful for provision of an alternative bus service

SIR I would like to thank Colin of LCB Travel who provided us with a bus service covering Maddox Road and The Stow when we were left without any service in the area.

Colin stepped in with a service which was very much appreciated by the many elderly residents who needed to get to Nuffield House surgery.

I must also mention Colin's drivers - Ben and Stuart - who were very helpful and pleasant at all times. A big thank you to you all.

Election thanks

SIR All the Labour candidates in last Thursday's local and European elections wish to thank the thousands of voters who supported them across the Harlow constituency.

Everyone in the Labour Party is saddened that some dedicated local councillors have not been re-elected and that some excellent candidates narrowly missed getting elected. Nevertheless, we are delighted that Labour appears to have the highest vote in the local elections across the constituency overall and that Richard Howitt has been re-elected as an MEP.

We are also pleased that we have retained control of Harlow Council. This will ensure a clear sense of direction and purpose for the town over the coming months.

We recognise that there is a big job to be done between now and the General Election to elect Suzy Stride as Harlow's next MP. However, we know that we have the right candidate for the task and the right policies based on our long-term values of fairness, equity and equality.

These will focus on the cost of living for ordinary people and the need for decent jobs, decent affordable housing and top quality public services for all.

Charlie Cochrane, chair
Harlow Constituency Labour Party

SIR Last Thursday, thanks to the people of Harlow, our very own common sense purple people's revolution has started.

We would like to thank everyone who voted for us in our first townwide local election. Five of us were elected and we also won the popular vote in Harlow with 34 per cent, so thank you Harlow for that faith you put in us.

The European vote was even more stunning as one thousand more of you voted UKIP and we got 39.2 per cent of the vote compared to Labour's 26.1 per cent and the Conservatives' 20.9 per cent.

When you consider we have only been a branch in Harlow for six months and money is so short it is probably the most stunning result in Harlow's history for a young party.

The Harlow UKIP Team

SIR Can I express my thanks to everyone involved in allowing me to be re-elected to represent the Hare Street and Little Pardon ward. It is a great honour to be the local councillor. Whilst the political landscape may have changed slightly, Labour's commitment to local residents will never change.

Cllr Tony Durcan (Labour)
Rundells, Harlow

SIR Could I place on record my thanks to the Nettesswell voters for returning me to the council.

I am very aware of local concerns and will continue to fight for our street lights to be turned back on. I am also aware that the issue of potholes is not properly addressed and will continue to mount pressure at County Hall to see this is done.

Locally the council needs to do better with its landscaping through its contract with Kier. I will also work closely with colleagues to see that we can start to sort out the problem of parking in many estates.

It might take some time but we really must start finding additional parking places in many of our estates that were designed for one car for every seven households in the 1950s.

Cllr Mike Danvers (Labour)
Tunmeade, Harlow

SIR This is just a short note to thank the residents of Great Pardon for electing me as councillor in Thursday's local elections with the highest turnout in all 11 wards contested. I will work hard to be the best of my abilities to represent the best interests of all the residents in the town, and in particular Great Pardon ward.

Cllr Terry Spooner (UKIP)
Greygoose Park, Harlow

SIR I just want to say a very big thank you to the voters of Bush Fair for having faith in me in last week's local elections. I am overwhelmed by the amount of support I received. Now you have shown your support for me I will give you all the support you deserve.

Cllr Dan Long (UKIP)
Longfield, Harlow

SIR I would like to thank all the residents of Old Harlow, Churchgate Street and Newhall who voted for me in the local elections.

Although I am sorry not to have been elected I have very much enjoyed talking with a large number of people about a variety of issues over recent months. I look forward to continued community activity and intend to conclude outstanding issues raised with me to the best of my ability.

Labour cling on as UKIP win five seats

LABOUR retained control of Harlow Council by just 26 votes in an election described by the town's Tory MP as a "political earthquake".

The UK Independence Party secured its first seats on the council taking the Labour-controlled wards of Bush Fair and Mark Hall, the Conservative's Staple Tye seat and the independent Great Parndon seat.

UKIP's Dan Long, who won the Bush Fair ward by almost 50 votes, said he would fight for the issues affecting his residents.

He said: "I will make sure Harlow residents are given first priority for housing, I'll focus on issues like maintaining our roads and keeping streets clean."

"I'm very proud, not only of my team but of the people that supported me and those who voted," he added.

The political make-up of the council is now Labour 17, Conservative 11 and UKIP 5.

Outgoing Labour group leader Cllr Mark Wilkinson said: "We believe [the result] is a protest vote. They [UKIP] campaign on one issue and we will see in a year's time that they do not have any answers. They will bring nothing to the people of Harlow."

Labour's Maggie Hulcoop, who described herself as weary but happy, was re-elected in Harlow Common by just 26 votes and told the Star it was her toughest campaign yet.

She said: "No matter what the difference is, winning is what I was here for. It was a tough call though, one of the toughest I have had."

Andrew Johnson, leader of Harlow Conservatives, said the group would continue to fight to get the best for the town's residents despite losing a seat.

He said: "Overall I am happy. Joel winning in Old Harlow by 300-odd votes is a thumping win and we're really pleased to have such a good councillor with us."

"It is a little unfortunate we lost Great Parndon because of Joshua Jolles' vanity project. It has proven that he is not a supporter of Robert Halfon as he claims and I hope he reflects on that.

"But now we will keep punching away to get the best for Harlow residents."

Mr Halfon, who will fight for his seat at next year's general election, said: "The days of simple seats are gone."

"I am delighted that Joel Charles, Nick Churchill and Tony Hall have been elected in three key seats and I congratulate all the new councillors from whatever party."

"UKIP have taken votes from both parties but much more from Labour. We all need to learn from this however. This is an earthquake for Harlow. We have to listen to what the people are saying."

Labour's parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride dismissed UKIP as a "short-term phenomena". She said: "I think for us it's positive. We held on to the council and held on to a number of seats. UKIP have won over some people but they are a short-term phenomena."

"I can only go by what I have heard on the doors and people voting UKIP said it was a protest vote but they will be voting Labour in the general election. That said, it does not mean we do not listen to people and their concerns."

UKIP group leader Mark Gough, who was not elected, said: "It is brilliant to come from a position of a party with no seats to winning the most. To get this level of support is great."

"Labour only stayed on top by 26 votes so I would say to all parties: watch out, we are here to stay."

Voter turnout for the election was 33.5 per cent, which was up slightly on last council vote in 2012 where turnout was 28.43 per cent. However, this year was the first time local council elections were run alongside those for the European Parliament.

vote as former Harlow Council leader Richard Howitt, an MEP since 1994, was re-elected for a fifth term.

The Green Party beat the Liberal Democrats to finish fourth.

The region-wide vote was reflected in Harlow where UKIP led the way with 8,101 votes, finishing ahead of Labour on 5,386. The Conservatives received 4,319, the Green Party 1,001 and the Liberal Democrats with just 572.

Five other candidates representing the British National Party, the Christian Peoples Party, the English Democrats, NO2EU and An Independence From Europe received 1,256 votes between them.

FEATURE

SINCE it was founded just two years ago, Harlow Falconry has made quite a name for itself. Now, with more than 20 birds and two members of staff, it is hoping to evolve into an even more exciting community project.

Sarah Anthony and Lisa Smith are the driving force behind the business. When the Star met up with them at Redricks Lake where the birds are flown regularly, we were treated to a spectacular display by their beautiful barn owl, Dizzy.

Harlow Falconry has moved away from its base at Pets Corner in the Town Park and is now looking for a new location to call home and house their collection of birds including various owls, a Harris hawk, a peregrine falcon and a griffin.

Last year Harlow Falconry won a Harlow Star Business Excellence Award for best new business. It has also been ranked the number one attraction in Harlow according to travel information website TripAdvisor, which awarded the company a Certificate of Excellence.

Now Sarah and Lisa are hoping to spread their wings further into the community with a more accessible style of falconry.

"We want to set up pop-up workshops and make ourselves and falconry as accessible to the community as possible," Sarah explained. "We have already worked with young offenders and children who do not go to mainstream school so it's just about expanding on what we already do and just getting better and better."

They want to raise £15,000 to create a rebranded, more modern and even more exciting business. Sarah and Lisa have created a gofundme webpage which allows people to donate money to support their efforts.

Supporters who donate £40 or more will receive a sponsorship pack which includes photographs, a newsletter and a certificate for the bird of their choice.

"At the moment we're working on providing the LANTRA (the UK's sector skills council for land-based and environmental industries) beginning falconry qualification to alternative education students. Students come to us and we are a part of their schedule. We teach them

"We want to continue engaging with the community and working with lots of different people and organisations to teach people about bird handling and promote safe, sensible and fun falconry" all about falconry so they can get their LANTRA qualification.

"We want to expand that to other schools and colleges if we can. We also visit young offenders and hold workshops where we teach them about the birds and falconry."

"We just want to continue engaging with the community and working with lots of different people and organisations to teach people about bird handling and promote safe, sensible and fun falconry."

Falconry is an ancient sport with the earliest references dating back to around 2,000 BC. But it is the youth factor of the Harlow Falconry team that they believe is one of the things setting them apart from other groups across the country.

Sarah said: "We have lots to offer individuals, families, groups, businesses and companies and the change we're going through is a great chance to communicate with people. We are really rare in comparison to other falconry groups as we are a lot younger and are female. We're actually the youngest girls to be running a falconry centre."

"Falconry tends to be quite a stuffy environment but I think we're a lot more relaxed. We're a different generation to a lot of falconries and that makes a difference."

"We try to make falconry accessible and interesting because it is a really fun thing to get involved in."

The pair offer their services at both corporate and private events and run team-building activities where participants can learn the basics of the sport including how to handle and fly a bird properly.

Experience days are one of the most popular services they offer.

"We make our experience days a bit more fun and try to set them apart from other experience days where people may not always get exactly what they wanted," said Sarah. "When someone books an experience day they want as much interaction with the birds as possible which is what we try to do."

words: BIANCA CASTRO photos: KERIGH PALMER

"We have games that we play which is always nice and there's as much interaction with the birds as possible. Our experience days are always fun."

Sarah and Lisa are hoping to secure a new location for the business by the end of the year but right now are focusing on caring for their birds.

"There's a lot of cleaning, lots of poo to be scrubbed every day!" said Lisa. "We check the equipment and the birds every day. We also weigh all the birds to make sure they are all healthy and are not too heavy or too light to be able to fly properly. Then there's the feeding times of course."

"We also fly them every day and give them a chance to do what they do best."

It's a lot of work for two people but the pair are excited about the future and are hoping to welcome new volunteers once the business has a more permanent home.

They have also been working with a Brooklyn graffiti artist who has been creating artwork - based on the birds - which Sarah and Lisa are hoping to sell to raise more funds.

"He's a brilliant artist," said Sarah. "He's been doing some artwork of our birds which we're hoping to sell after getting it printed. It should look amazing."

She added: "We love what we do and it's refreshing to be moving into something new. We can do what we want to do now and we're focusing on what we wanted to do in the first place when we first started out. That's really exciting.

"Once we've finalised everything and are in a new place we would be happy to take on volunteers, but it's just hard to do that at this time when we're having to do a lot from home."

According to the pair, falconry is an activity that appeals to all ages. They have seen people from 12-92 years-old sign up and take part in one of the experience days.

raising their profile "so people can see us, learn about the birds and find out more about what we do".

Anyone interested in falconry or birds of prey in general can get the chance to find out more by joining the Introduction to Falconry beginners course which is being run by Sarah and Lisa from 10am-3pm on Saturday, August 9 which will cover the basic skills of the sport.

"We are advising people who want to find out a bit more about us and falconry in general to sign up to attend our one-off beginners course," said Sarah said.

"With that we will teach the basics such as feeding, training the birds and flying them as well as a few little fun extras. There are limited spaces so the earlier people book the better."

Bringing community together

GEMMA GARDNER

A FESTIVAL celebrating the importance of community drew crowds to Harlow town centre at the weekend.

The three-day Heart4Harlow Festival is in its second year and is organised by the town's churches.

Two stages were erected in the Harvey Centre and the Water Gardens for live performances which took place from Friday until Sunday.

On Sunday groups gathered for a 'big lunch' - a project aimed at bringing together communities.

A display by the team from Harlow Falconry entertained the crowd, who also had the opportunity to find out about the work of charities in the area. There were also events for children including bouncy castles, face painting and craft activities.

Towards the end, many joined in a community praise session during which balloons were released and Harlow MP Robert Halfon launched a Beat the Sharks campaign which offers an alternative source of funding for people seeking loans.

Rev Martin Harris, the area dean for Harlow, said: "It was wonderful seeing the community being brought together."

Garden centre's gift puts smiles back on faces of nursery tots

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GIFT of flowers from Harlow Garden Centre has put the smiles back on the faces of children and staff at a nursery targeted by vandals.

The garden centre donated six large planters filled with flowering plants to Smiles Montessori pre-school at The Fairway in Bush Fair on Tuesday.

Last month yobs climbed over a brick wall into the playground and broke toys, smashed plant pots and destroyed plants in the nursery garden.

At the time the children had only just finished planting summer plants in their classes.

A nursery spokesman said: "It was trashed. They had thrown stuff across the garden; it was just a mess.

"The plants and plant pots were smashed. The children had just planted them all and they were really excited about seeing their plants and flowers grow."

She added: "There was soil everywhere and it took us a good hour to clean everything up."

This week nursery manager Julia Young said: "We are really grateful for the very kind donation. A lot of our displays were broken and we are very grateful the children now have the opportunity to water the plants, tend to them and watch them grow."

"When the displays were broken that opportunity was taken away so it's nice to have it again."

She added: "The vegetables we have growing here have all been grown by the children. It is all a learning opportunity and we're very grateful to the Harlow Garden Centre."

Police urge mystery caller to phone back

DETECTIVES investigating a robbery near the Water Gardens in Harlow have this week appealed to a person who contacted them to get back in touch.

The mystery caller suggested the name of someone responsible for the attack on a 38-year-old man who was walking home from work at 11pm on Friday, May 16.

However, the caller did not leave their name or contact details and police say they need to speak to them again to get more information.

The victim suffered a swollen eye socket and bruising to his back when he was attacked by two men who stole his iPhone and a brown shoulder bag.

The person who called police, or any other witnesses to the robbery, should contact DC Mike Ferguson on the non-emergency 101 number or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Dog walker attacked

A MAN walking his dog late at night suffered bruising to his ribs and knees when he was the victim of an unprovoked assault in Harlow.

The 57-year-old man was approached from behind by two men at the playing fields near to Northbrooks and Hare Street Springs shortly after midnight last Tuesday (May 20).

The pair assaulted him before running away. The victim was unable to give a description of his assailants.

Speed cameras clock driver at 119mph in a 50mph limit

A DRIVER clocked at 119mph on a stretch of the A414 between Harlow and Stanstead Abbots has topped the list for the highest speed on a 50mph road from data submitted by police authorities across England and Wales.

The Institute of Advanced Motorists sent a Freedom of Information request to 39 authorities for details of speeds registered by cameras as between April last year and this month.

From the 33 responses, the highest speed recorded on 50mph roads was the A414 where one motorist was travelling at 69 miles over the limit.

Chief Inspector Gerry McDonald, of Hertfordshire Police, said: "There is a reason why there's a speed limit on the A414. If you travel in excess of 100mph you will not only endanger other people but put your life and people in the car at risk."

"We will carry on with our campaign to target offenders who speed. There are speed cameras in these locations."

"It's not, as people perceive, an opportunity to make money. It's an opportunity to control and protect motorists and innocent people who are adhering to the speed limits."

School six set for a slog to summits of three highest peaks

A TEAM of school colleagues will be taking on the Three Peaks Challenge to raise money for two different charities.

The six members of staff from Church Langley Primary School have set themselves a target of raising more than £3,000 for Cancer Research UK and Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation. Headteacher Stacey Ward and assistant headteacher Jen Lott will be joined by teachers David Stacey and Hayley Johnson and learning support assistants Gill Pardoe and Jayne Heard for the attempt to reach the top of the three highest peaks in the UK - Ben Nevis, Scafell Pike and Mount Snowdon - in a 24-hour period.

The team are also hosting several fundraising events at the school to boost their total.

Jen said: "The staff have chosen to support these two charities as they have all been affected personally in some way or seen the impact that diabetes and cancer can have on some of the children and families that they encounter within

"In order to raise as much money as possible, the team felt they needed to complete an event that would be very challenging on a personal level."

She added: "This is going to be an incredibly tough slog but it will be so worthwhile if we manage to raise money for two such extremely important causes. "We are sure there will be plenty of laughter, tears and sore feet along the way but we can't wait to get going on our challenge."

The team start at Ben Nevis on Friday before heading south to Scarfell Pike in the Lake District and finishing at Snowdon 24 hours later.

So far they have received more than £1,000 in sponsorship pledges.

To sponsor, visit www.justgiving.com/church-langley-threepeakschallenge. To pledge support for JDRF, visit www.justgiving.com/church-langley-jdrf.

Bill loses inches but gains pounds

A SLIMMER has set himself a weight-loss challenge to raise money for St Clare Hospice.

Bill Manzi, 52, of Holmes Meadow, has already lost 17 kilos in two months and has so far raised more than £1,000 from friends and family who have sponsored him £1 for every pound he sheds.

"It's all going really well so far," he said. "I have been working out with Liz O'Hare at Paringdon Sports Club in Harlow. I'm very grateful to my bosses and all my family and friends who are supporting me."

"It's extra motivation. I thought if I have to lose weight I should do it for a good cause."

Council puts old PCs to good use

CHARITIES in need of computer equipment are being urged to apply to Essex County Council for computers and laptops which are no longer being used.

As part of the council's Community Computing scheme Essex charities can apply for up to five laptop or desktop computers to support their work.

The scheme has been running since January last year and so far a total of 794 PCs have been distributed to 235 groups - equivalent to a £39,700 donation to charities in Essex.

For more information about the scheme, visit the county council's website at www.essex.gov.uk.

Fundraiser George has a bear-illiant idea

A CHARITY fundraiser has come up with his next money-spinning idea.

George Mole, 77, of Longfield, Harlow recently presented St Clare Hospice with a cheque for £510, the proceeds of a charity race night and a bowls tour in which he took part.

At the same time he handed over a giant teddy bear which will be taken to fundraising events throughout the town as part of a Guess the Name of the Bear challenge.

"We are going to take it to fetes and fairs and get people to see if they can guess his name," said Mr Mole, who has been raising funds for various good causes for the past nine years.

"It's huge so hopefully it can raise a bit of money."

Mr Mole added: "I have a few friends that have been at St Clare Hospice and a dear friend who goes there now. It is a wonderful place so it was a pleasure to present the money to them."

Charity bike ride stops off in town

A TEAM of 10 cyclists who are completing a 1,100-mile circuit of the British Isles passing through all five capitals stopped off at the Holiday Inn Express in Crown Gate, Harlow.

The Great Big Cycle group are hoping to raise £100,000 for the Cystinosis Foundation UK. They had cycled 100 miles from Grantham when they arrived in Harlow for an overnight stop on the fifth day of their 12-day fundraising challenge.

The following day the team set off to Reading.

The three year-old daughter of the lead rider Neil Hutchinson suffers from Cystinosis, a rare genetic condition which causes impaired growth and kidney problems.

Dance showcase for advice bureau

A CAB volunteer has organised a fundraising dance show in aid of Harlow's Citizen's Advice Bureau and dance group Dance Fusion.

Lou Moon is hoping to raise £3,000 from the event which will take place in the Harvey Centre on Saturday, June 7 from noon-1pm.

Famine fundraisers join the 'global' run

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AFTER Band Aid and Live Aid came Sport Aid, a global event to raise funds for famine relief in Africa.

At exactly 3pm on Sunday May 25, 1986, almost 20 million people in 89 countries around the world ran, jogged or walked 10 kilometres in aid of famine relief charities.

Chart-topping band Tears For Fears even re-recorded their hit Everybody Wants to Rule The World and released it as a charity single with the title Everybody Wants To Run The World to publicise the event.

Here in Harlow scores of people put on their trainers for the town's Run The World.

Jeanne Rawlings, 58, of Spinning Wheel Mead, sent in this photo of herself, her husband Steve and daughter Toni - who at the time was 11 and a pupil at St Mark's School - taking part.

"Toni ran all the way around Harlow non-stop," writes Jeanne, who said she and her husband only joined in for the last 200 yards.

"The girl holding Steve's hand is Paula Jacobs. I think the photo was taken by my brother, Keith Towns."

● Do you have memories of the Run The World event or do you have any photos taken on the day? If so, why not share them with Nostalgia by calling (01279) 400577, emailing star@hertsessexnews.co.uk or by sending them to Harlow Star, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW.

Reunion for jumble sale children

AHARLOW resident is hoping to reunite a group of youngsters who organised a jumble sale to raise money for the elderly.

The Harlow Citizen reported that 23 children from the Ram Gorse area of town held the sale in aid of the town's "old folk".

Nick Taylor, who is now in his 50s, bought in this photograph in which he can be seen on the far right. He has tracked down several of the people pictured and can name a few others but is now looking to identify the remainder so he can organise a reunion.

"It was August 24, 1964," he said. "I lived in Ram Gorse and the jumble sale was done by all the neighbourhood kids. It appeared in the paper on August 28."

"I am organising a reunion on August 24 and hope to have the same people standing in the same spot as in the photo. "The headline says jumble sale for old folks but the town was relatively new then and there were very few old people around. I mean my parents were in their 30s so it's quite funny."

● Can you spot yourself in the photo or do you recognise anyone else pictured? If so, get in touch with Nostalgia by calling (01279) 400577, emailing star@hertsessexnews.co.uk or write to 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex, CM20 1JW.

School group to join veterans at anniversary of D-Day landings

HONOURED: Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood and Celia Ellis with students Charlie Dowers, Izzy Dorkin, Becky Dodd and Stanley Saunders

A GROUP of four students and three members of staff from a Harlow school will be joining in a series of unique events to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the D-Day landings.

The group from Stewards Academy, in Parnall Road, will be joining the Hoddesdon branch of the Normandy Veteran's Association when they make the trip to France on Tuesday.

Assistant headteacher Marie Erwood will be joined by staff member Celia Ellis and recently retired history teacher Rose Archer along with Year 9 students Charlie Dowers, Izzy Dorkin, Becky Dodd and Stanley Saunders for the week-long visit to Normandy.

It has taken around three years to plan the events which will be held from Tuesday, June 3 to Saturday, June 7.

While in France the group will take part in various events including visits to St Mere Eglise, the Colleville American Cemetery, the D-Day beaches of Juno and Sword, Pegasus Bridge, Arromanches and Bayeux.

Commemorative wreaths and crosses will be laid on the beaches on behalf of the students and staff at Stewards Academy.

At midnight on June 5 they will accompany the veterans and their families to a midnight parachute drop and firework display to signal the start of the commemorative events.

The week-long visit will end with a service of commemoration and international event at the Bayeux War Cemetery, which will be attended by The Queen, members of the Royal Family, Prime Minister David Cameron and dignitaries from around the world.

Ms Erwood said: "Doing this is an amazing opportunity for the school to commemorate the D-Day landings.

"We have a very good relationship with the veterans who often come into the school to do lessons and we are honoured to be a part of the visit.

"The importance and privilege of having our young people present at such events can never be underestimated. They are the ones who will carry the torch to the next generation and keep the memory of these brave soldiers alive for ever.

"I am very excited to be going, as are our students. I am sure this will be an enlightening and very interesting experience."

Pupils get cooking with TV chef Jamie

TASTY: Grace, Ben and Madison with their healthy wraps

CHILDREN at William Martin Infants School got creative with their healthy wraps thanks to TV chef Jamie Oliver's new initiative.

Both Year 2 classes at the Tawneys Road school took part in Jamie Oliver's Food Revolution Day and created healthy wraps from scratch.

Headteacher Janet Matthews said: "Jamie first showed them how to make their wraps on the big screen and then it was up to them to add the ingredients they wanted.

"They put together the food themselves and all the children created something different. They all loved making yummy food and then eating it."

Woman injured by concrete post wins court claim

A WOMAN who suffered a serious leg injury when she walked into a concrete post on a dark path has won the right to damages from Essex County Council.

Kirstie Hawes, 35, was on her way back from a karaoke night at a pub when she struck the bollard at the entrance of an underpass in Southern Way, Harlow, in August 2008.

Miss Hawes collapsed in excruciating pain and was left so badly injured that she now has to walk with the aid of a crutch.

Earlier this year she took her claim for damages against the county council to the High Court and a judge has now ruled the council responsible for the accident, paving the way for a six-figure compensation payout.

Judge Robert Francis said the 78cm-high concrete bollard was a danger because it was on a path in an area which was badly lit.

"It was reasonably foreseeable that persons unfamiliar with the area using or walking down the approach in a perfectly reasonable manner would fail to see the bollard until colliding with it," he said.

During the hearing in March the judge was told that Miss Hawes had been at the Poplar Kitten pub but had only consumed two half-pints of lager.

After walking into the post and collapsing in

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

pain, she was treated to by paramedics who had to ask police officers to hold torches so they could see her.

Giving his judgment, Judge Francis said there was evidence that not all of the lights in the subway had been working at the time of the accident.

He said the lighting was so low that the council should have foreseen that a pedestrian who did not know the area would not see the bollard before colliding with it.

"It not only had the power to provide such lighting, it was under a duty to do so because it must be deemed to have been responsible for placing the dangerous bollard there in the first place," he said.

He added: "I am satisfied that there was a duty of care to take steps to render pedestrians reasonably safe from the danger presented by the bollard and further that it failed to comply with that duty."

The decision means the council is now liable to pay Miss Hawes damages which, if not agreed, will be decided by a court.

Her lawyers earlier confirmed she would be seeking a six-figure sum.

New playground proves popular with pupils

CHILDREN at St Luke's Primary Catholic School in Harlow have celebrated the official unveiling of their new playground.

The school, which is part of the Our Lady of Fatima Catholic multi academy trust, has given its outside play spaces a new look.

Acting headteacher Peter Kuminek said: "The playground has been astro-turfed and there are areas for the children to explore, play and read. It was a needed investment.

"The children love their new playground with the climbing frame and lots of areas for them to explore. It is very exciting for them.

"Before it was a grass area and children got muddy but now that is not the case. The children can wear their raincoats and still go out to exercise and play.

"It is a great addition to the school."

Cigarettes seized in customs raid on unit

CUSTOMS officers seized five million duty free cigarettes during a raid on an industrial unit in Harlow.

Officers swooped on the unit last Wednesday after the UK Border Force stopped an unaccompanied trailer at the Port of Tilbury from Sweden the previous day.

The trailer, which was supposed to contain machinery, was instead filled with millions of Winston cigarettes. The duty loss on the haul is estimated at more than £1m.

Paul Barton, assistant director of criminal investigation for Her Majesty's Revenue & Customs, said: "It sends out a clear message to those involved in this type of criminality. Attempts to import distribute and sell tobacco goods on which UK duty has not been paid are treated extremely seriously and we will relentlessly pursue those believed to be involved."

Five men - two from the Ukraine and three from Latvia - were arrested on suspicion of being involved in excise fraud. They were interviewed and released on bail.

FRIDAY Tonight's headliners Trash Monroe was formed by vocalist Melany Dantes and Dave Bradbury in 2003. Since then the band has built up a solid reputation in the south east as being one of the better unsigned acts to emerge from the scene. The unwritten and even unspoken (until now) point of the band is to use a wide variety of ideas within a collective, to embrace it and enjoy the creative freedom that comes from not being pigeon holed. Support comes from Dead and Such Strange Arts. Tickets £6 in advance (£5 for members).

Friends release debut short film

A PAIR of friends have written, directed and produced their first short film together.

Kirstie Brough, 23, and Daniel Doel, 27, who both work in the box office at the Harlow Playhouse spent around a day filming, editing and creating Broken - a short black and white film set to Sam Smith's Stay With Me.

The three-minute film stars Kirstie as a young woman who has fallen into prostitution following the loss of her partner.

"When we are working we come up with ideas all the time and we said let's just get on with it," said Kirstie, who has appeared in primetime BBC1 shows EastEnders and Casualty.

"We wanted to do something dealing with grief and we were just toying with ideas that we wanted to work with."

"We played with different shots and lighting and things to get something that we thought worked and we have had such great feedback so far."

Broken, which can be seen on video-sharing website Vimeo, has already been shared by several EastEnders cast members including Jake Wood, who plays Max Branning in the soap.

"I had friends who have never really mentioned my acting or anything like that message me to say they'd seen the short film and really liked it," Kirstie said.

"Family and friends have told Dan and I they didn't want it to end, that they wanted more which is really nice and it seems to be getting more and more popular."

Kirstie said: "I'm really pleased with it and Dan is too and we're both writing and thinking of new ideas. We have both got the bug now."

"Dan is very talented he just does not know it, I've read his stuff before but it's his first time doing something like this so Broken is like his baby."

"We inspire each other, we work so well together and we're really pleased with the end result."

Kirstie added: "We did lots of different shots that did not end up in the final version; I had to cut a bit to be able to fit it to the song because we thought the song fitted in really well with the story."

The talented pair are already thinking of future short films they can create, with Kirstie hinting at a possible comedy in the near future.

DRAMA When the Second World War air raids threaten their safety in the city, Carrie Willow and her brother, Nick are evacuated to a small village in the Welsh countryside. Billeted with the kind but timid Auntie Lou and her miserly brother, Mr Evans, the children quickly learn that this is a place unlike any they have ever known and begin to discover the joys, and terrors, the countryside possesses. Carrie's War opens tonight (Thursday) and runs until Sunday. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £16-£19.

MUSICAL This year's performance from the pupils of Spotlight Theatre School is The Magic of Musicals. Pupils from the age of 3-18 will perform to the music from well-known shows. Exciting dance routines and spectacular costumes make it an evening not to be missed. Watch as the cast of more than 80 transport you into the world of musical theatre. Performances are in the main auditorium on Friday, June 13 and Saturday, June 14, starting at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £15.

DANCE Following on from last year's production of Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, students from Phoenix Theatre School return to the Playhouse with their annual main stage showcase which promises to be a feast of fun for theatre lovers of all ages. The Phoenix Theatre Arts Showcase 2014 will be performed on Monday, June 16 and Tuesday, June 17. Performance starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £15.

COMEDY Mud, blood and stiff upper-lips - it's the history of Britain as you've never seen it before. Join the critically-acclaimed Pantaloons Theatre Company for a breathless race through the centuries in this delightfully inventive open-air show. Harold II and William the Conqueror don't see eye to eye, Henry VIII decides five marriages just aren't enough and Queen Victoria is most certainly not amused. This historically hysterical show is packed with songs, sketches and silliness and is suitable for all ages. The Pantaloons' History of Britain will take place in the walled gardens of the museum on Saturday, June 14, starting at 8pm. Tickets cost £11.

ART Harlow Art Trust has bought together a special exhibition to highlight the wealth of art in the region called Essex Collections. The gallery's own 20th Century Gibberd Collection will be on show along with selected pieces on loan from outstanding local institutions to illustrate diversity of British artists. Curators say all the artworks are "preserved and displayed in benefit and enjoyment of the public and are an investment for future generations". The exhibition will in the gallery until Friday, June 20. The gallery is open Monday to Friday from 9am-4.45pm and Saturday from 11am-2pm.

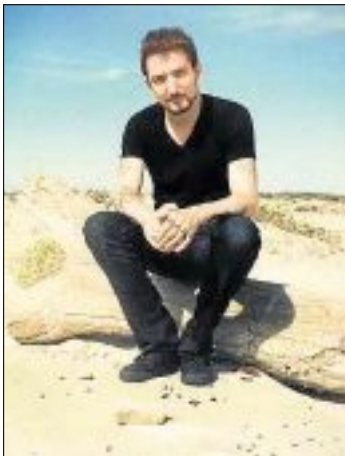

Quirky treats on offer at Standon Calling

MEXICAN wrestling, extreme ice cream, a chance to learn how to dance flamenco and a cocktail bar in an ambulance are just some of the delights on offer at the Standon Calling music festival this summer.

The event takes place at Hertfordshire's Standon Lordship from August 1-3 and will feature headline performances from Public Enemy, Frank Turner (pictured right) & The Sleeping Souls and Maximo Park.

But away from the music festival-goers can indulge in a range of quirky activities.

The Cuban Brothers will lead the Standon Calling Carnivale on the Saturday featuring floats, samba beats and outrageous outfits. Festival-goers are being invited to arrive at the site early to take part in flamenco dancing, float building and voodoo ritual workshops. The procession will end in front of the main stage.

Lucha Britannia will be running Mexican wrestling training camps at the festival where the team will take part in live tournaments and teach you how to grapple.

Meanwhile, The Spectacular Spectrum of Now, will provide some of the most eclectic and eccentric comedy around.

Elsewhere, the festival also boasts a swimming pool, dog show and fancy dress competition. Other acts performing throughout the weekend include Clean Bandit, Grandmaster Flash, Charli XCX, TOY and many more.

It's the perfect combination

THERE are some combinations that make life feel better – strawberries and cream, roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, gin and tonic.... but for me, one of the classic combinations which will always bring a heavenly note to summer is the pairing of clematis and roses.

They not only complement each other colour-wise, the rich blues and purples of the clematis contrasting beautifully with the colour palette of the rose, but they also enjoy similar growing conditions as both need a rich, fertile soil, regular feeding with fertilisers high in potash and nitrogen and plenty of watering during the growing season.

Early season clematis, such as C. alpina and C. macropetala, with their bushy habits, are naturally suited to training up and masking the bare stems of climbing and rambler roses.

Among the favourite combinations in my garden is the David Austin English rose, Rosa 'Gertrude Jekyll', which produces beautiful, blousy deep pink fragrant blooms in summer and the Clematis 'Nelly Moser', a soft pink-and-white candy striped hybrid which twines itself around the rose during the summer.

Clematis can cling gently to other plants by twining their leaf stalks around other stems or supports and will not strangle a rose they are growing through.

By Hannah Stephenson

When choosing a combination, the easiest option is to go for clematis that flower on the current season's growth as these bloom in late summer and autumn and are pruned in late winter to early spring, at the same time as roses.

Some large-flowering clematis bloom in late spring and early summer on wood produced the previous year. These can be grown through roses but you need to prune them when their first flowers have faded, which you can do while you're dead-heading the rose.

Early to midsummer-flowering types, including C. 'Lasurstern' and C. 'Marie Boisselot', benefit from being thinned to five or six shoots before they are tied into a rose. Fewer flowers may result but these will be larger and more evenly spaced, resulting in a more balanced display.

Effective contrasts include the mauve Clematis 'Prince Charles' with the soft yellow rose 'The Pilgrim'. The clematis has fairly small blooms and suits the shorter habit of the rose. Clematis 'Arctic Queen', with its bold white flowers, sets off the delicate pink of Rosa 'Cornelia'.

If you have a larger area to cover such as an archway or pergola, climbers are ideal for providing a living curtain of colour. The white blooms of the Rosa

COMBINATION: Rosa 'Shropshire Lass' and Clematis 'Harlow Carr'

'Climbing Iceberg' combine beautifully with the deep mauve blooms of Clematis 'Lasurstern', which will train over an arch to create both a visual showstopper and a fragrance sensation. Alternatively, Clematis 'Romantika' drips with amazing inky-purple flowers and makes a perfect companion for a pale climbing rose.

Some combinations work fantastically well in pots, especially on obelisks, which give their growth plenty of support, but you'll need a really large pot because a climbing rose can make a lot of growth. Try matching Rosa 'Snow Goose', a small repeat-flowering rambler with fragrant pompom white petals, with C. 'The President', which bares deep purple flowers from late spring to early autumn.

Cruise trapped in time to die another day

EDGE OF TOMORROW certificate 12A 1h53m

In 2005, extra-terrestrials tangled with Tom Cruise in War Of The Worlds and came off second best.

Obviously the otherworldly invaders didn't learnt their lesson because they are back as a hive-like race called the Mimics and, once again, the fate of mankind rests in the sweaty palms of a certain Hollywood superstar.

Cruise plays Major William Cage, who arrives at the headquarters of the United Defense Force in London close to Trafalgar Square. The Mimics have overrun Europe and the UDF is preparing to storm the continent from multiple angles.

General Brigham (Brendan Gleeson) orders Cage to the frontline to capture this glorious moment on film for generations to come. Cage refuses and so he is press-ganged into active duty under Master Sergeant Farell (Bill Paxton).

A subsequent skirmish on the beaches of France is a bloodbath and Cage perishes in the throes of annihilating an alien. But exposure to the creature's luminous blue blood miraculously allows Cage to reset time and relive the ill-fated day, dying again and again as he attempts to identify a weakness in the Mimics' defences.

In the process, Cage forges an alliance with Special Forces warrior Rita Vrataski (Emily Blunt), who is known affectionately as Full Metal Bitch to the troops.

Scripted by Christopher McQuarrie (The Usual Suspects) and siblings Jez and John-Henry Butterworth, Edge Of Tomorrow establishes its Groundhog Day-style premise and cleverly engineers ways to keep us enthralled as Cage repeats fatal mistakes.

Cruise initially plays against type and slowly teases out his character's likeable qualities amidst a miasma of eye-popping digital effects, while Blunt embraces Rita's ballsiness with gusto.

MALEFICENT certificate PG, 1h37m

Angelina Jolie dons the distinctive horns of Disney's iconic villainess from the 1953 animated feature Sleeping Beauty in this live-action fantasy.

King Henry (Kenneth Cranham) is a greedy, scheming monarch who yearns to expand his kingdom by conquering the forest realm where the witch Maleficent (Jolie) and her shape-shifter underling Diaval (Sam Riley) hold sway.

Unfortunately for the king, Maleficent is a mistress of the dark arts and she elects to protect the land she loves by placing a curse on Aurora (Elle Fanning), the beautiful and innocent daughter of Maleficent's former childhood friend

Stefan (Sharlto Copley).

Aurora is blind to the grim fate that awaits her and becomes entangled in the bitter power struggle between Maleficent and King Henry.

Despite the guidance of three fairies - Flittle (Lesley Manville), Knotgrass (Imelda Staunton) and Thistlewit (Juno Temple) - and the love of dashing prince Phillip (Brendan Thwaites), Aurora seems destined to prick her finger and slip into a 100-year slumber that will cast a dark shadow over Henry's kingdom.

A MILLION WAYS TO DIE IN THE WEST certificate 15, 1h56m

Seth MacFarlane directs, produces, co-writes and plays the role of the cowardly sheep farmer Albert whose fickle girlfriend leaves him for another man after he backs out of a gunfight.

When a mysterious and beautiful woman (Charlize Theron) rides into town she helps Albert find his courage and they begin to fall in love. Then her husband, a notorious outlaw, arrives in town seeking revenge and Albert must put his newfound courage to the test.

Starring alongside MacFarlane and Theron are Liam Neeson, Amanda Seyfried, Giovanni Ribisi, Sarah Silverman and Neil Patrick Harris.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
Perhaps you need answers to a dilemma, but the best solutions are likely to be found by exploring innovative ideas and adopting a practical plan. Still, you may be swept away by a mood of idealism, leading to a desire to escape from routine. This need to seek and search could culminate in an illuminating experience that might prove a game changer. Call for more...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Opportunities on the home front can inspire creative ideas and plans, and perhaps lead to a rethink concerning decor or a key domestic issue. Plus, a focus on finances enhances intuition and encourages initiative concerning ways to make your money go further. Later, reaching out to an old friend may be heart-warming and deeply rewarding. Call for your financial forecast...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
Artful plans for making new connections may lead to more socializing or regular networking. Yet, the mood drifts towards personal goals as a Venus Neptune link brings intuitive ideas into the mix. One of these acted upon could have a very positive outcome. As Mercury regresses for the next three weeks, old ideas may have new applications. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Finding resources to fund new ideas may keep you occupied, while social options bring a chance to unwind at a very deep level, which you might really appreciate. Later, as Mercury reverts, digging deeper into your memory bank can give you a better idea of what actions you need to take, especially around a relationship that needs some attention. Call for more astral advice...

Leo 24 July - 23 Aug
Early on you may storm creative heights, fuelled by ideas for positive growth and profitable interaction. Be careful though, if you're borrowing or pooling your resources, as it helps to read the small print before you commit. Socially, you could be in your element over the weekend, as a newcomer on the block could bolster your faith in yourself. Call for more news and advice...

Virgo 24 Aug - 23 Sept
It helps to relax your grip early on and let life surprise you, allowing it to reveal solutions and spotlight ideas that may be mega useful. Midweek, the potential for romance sparkles when you move out of your comfort zone. Yet, a Quarter Moon in your sign suggests restlessness, though a breakthrough is possible with a little lateral thinking. Call now for your love scope in full...

Libra 24 Sept - 23 Oct
Focus your attention on those areas of life that most need it, especially around projects that you've struggled with. It's time to rev up your efforts, as doing so could bring achievements and a chance to aim even higher. Meanwhile, a romantic option can show special promise, with past experience perhaps aiding a fruitful and positive connection. Call for your love scope in full...

Scorpio 24 Oct - 22 Nov
As Mercury begins its backward dance in your zone of learning and travel, use it to your advantage to upgrade a skill that could come in useful. Meanwhile, romance may sizzle midweek and it could give a current relationship a breath of life, or a new liaison brings the sweetness into your life that you need. Want extra cash? A bright idea might inspire. Call me for more...

Sagittarius 23 Nov - 21 Dec
While your focus may be on others and their needs and desires, be prepared to do some soul-searching for answers to any pressing personal issues. A shift in attitude could bring about a more positive change than persuasion or pointed debate. This week's Quarter Moon empowers you to listen to others, but in the final analysis, to think for yourself. Call for more advice...

Capricorn 22 Dec - 20 Jan
Be open to ideas from wherever they appear, as someone's off-the-cuff brainwave may be the inspiration you need. Midweek, your imagination chimes in, perhaps encouraging you to take on board a creative project which could be particularly rewarding. If you've felt the need to diet or exercise more, lifestyle changes might need serious consideration. Call for more astral advice...

Aquarius 21 Jan - 19 Feb
Productive conversations spur you on to explore ideas that could be mutually beneficial. Yet, the Quarter Moon on Thursday might be a sign to use resources skillfully to achieve your ends. As Mercury retrogrades from Saturday, be prepared for U-turns and unexpected disruptions, but also be open to a different order of genius showing up. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Pisces 20 Feb - 20 March
Considerations around healthy options could lead you to make one or two changes to your lifestyle, with positive results. Midweek though, allow yourself to drift and dream, while giving yourself the chance to mentally unwind. Resourceful ideas garnered as a result may be just what's needed to give a relationship or even a project, the boost they need. Call now for more...

PROPERTY NEWS

Four-bedroom detached in a popular village location

coverproperty

Location Church Lane, Sheering
Category Four-bedroom detached
Additional Two reception rooms, en suite to master bedroom, kitchen/breakfast room
Guide price £485,000
Agent Mackay Property Agents, 25 Bell Street, Sawbridgeworth.
 Telephone (01279) 600567.

THIS large, four-bedroom detached house is in a popular central location in the village of Sheering.

It has been greatly improved by the present owners and beautifully decorated throughout, with stylish wooden flooring and light and sunny rooms contributing to the ambience.

On the ground floor there is a generous entrance hall with a central staircase and doors off to two reception rooms, the kitchen/breakfast room and a cloakroom.

The large sitting room is a particularly light room with a feature fireplace, patio doors and a window looking out on to the rear garden.

The dining room faces the front of the house.

In the kitchen/breakfast room there is a range of light coloured fitted units with contrasting work surfaces.

On the first floor there are doors to the four bedrooms and the family bathroom. The master bedroom has an en-suite bathroom.

The sunny south-west facing rear garden has an extensive paved patio as well as a lawned area and well stocked large shrub borders. The garden is enclosed by larch lap fencing.

Call Mackay Property Agents on (01279) 600567 to make a viewing appointment.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

BUY-to-let may not be quite the hot property of the boom years but it has seen a resurgence in recent times.

Low interest rates have played a part in that. If you're considering investing or improving your return on a buy-to-let you already own there are a few things you need to bear in mind.

As an income investment for those with enough of a deposit, buy-to-let looks attractive, especially compared to low savings rates and stock market volatility. But these rates will go up – eventually – and you need to know your investment can stand that test.

Many investors who bought in the boom years before 2007 struggled as mortgage rates rose before the base rate was slashed to 0.5 per cent.

Like any investment, buy-to-let comes with no guarantees but for those who have more faith in bricks and mortar than stocks and shares, take a look at these top tips from thisismoney.co.uk:

- Research the market
- Choose a good area
- Do the maths
- Shop around for the best mortgage
- Think about your target tenant
- Don't be over ambitious - go for rental yield and remember costs
- How hands-on do you want to be? Will you rent it out yourself or get an agent to do so?
- Haggle – as a buy-to-let investor you have the same advantage as a first-time buyer when it comes to negotiating a discount.
- Know the pitfalls – before you make any investment you should always investigate the negative aspects as well as the positive. Even fabulous houses can sit empty.

One rule of thumb many buy-to-let investors apply is to factor in the property sitting empty for two months of the year as this gives a substantial buffer.

Commercial Property Feature

'Green shoots' are emerging in office, industry and retail sectors

FOLLOWING a number of very difficult years in the commercial property sector, there are now early signs of development activity beginning to emerge in response to an acute shortage of supply of good-quality, modern business premises, writes Richard Coke, of Bishop's Stortford commercial property agent Coke Gearing Consulting.

In the office sector, Tanners Wharf Ltd, having recently completed the letting of Building One at Marriott Court in London Road, Bishop's Stortford, to Tees Law, has begun construction of Building Two, which will deliver a further 25,000 sq ft of modern, grade A offices in a prime riverside location within walking distance of the station.

In the industrial sector, Marshgate Developments Ltd has submitted a planning application for a circa 100,000 sq ft new development at Stansted Distribution Centre on the former A120 on five acres of brownfield land adjacent to the employment park.

Elsewhere on the airport, owner Manchester Airports Group is working with Uttlesford District Council to bring forward approximately 44 acres of mixed-use commercial land on the north side which is designated in the Local Development Framework to be released from air-related user restrictions. This will be a significant boost to the limited supply of industrial and warehousing properties as, following a recent run of lettings, there are virtually no new, modern units remaining.

On Raynham Road industrial estate in Stortford, Howard Property Group is bringing forward two consented sites comprising 27,500 sq ft to add to the existing stock on the well-established estate.

In the retail sector, there are signs that, following the dismissal of a judicial review challenge, Henderson Global Investors' £105m scheme for Old River Lane is finally taking shape.

Whilst there are many concerns arising from the recent adoption of compulsory purchase powers by East Herts District Council in order to facilitate the scheme, there can be no doubt that the retail sector in Stortford is desperately short of good-quality, modern accommodation and it is encouraging to see that some efforts are being made to address this issue.

It is encouraging to see these 'green shoots' finally emerging, albeit that our planning process necessitates that these are lengthy processes. These developments, however, offer hope for renewed investment and for an increased range of opportunities for commercial occupiers in the locality.

WHY BUY A CAR WHEN YOU CAN AFFORD A BMW 3 SERIES M SPORT?

The BMW 3 Series M Sport includes Dakota leather upholstery, a 6.5" colour display screen, iDrive controller, 18" alloy wheels, Sport seats, and M aerodynamic body styling as standard. But rest assured, with BMW Economics, there's nothing standard about the monthly payment.

For more information or to arrange a test drive*, call us on 01279 216806 or visit www.elmsstanstedbmw.co.uk

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website.

Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Boarding House Tutors

From September 2014
£10.86 per hour

Hockerill is one of the country's largest maintained boarding schools. Boarding was regarded as outstanding in a recent Ofsted inspection. We are a highly distinctive and successful community and heavily oversubscribed.

Hockerill College was awarded "IB School of the Year" in 2011/2012. It is situated in the town of Bishop's Stortford in the beautiful landscaped grounds of a former teacher training college and is within 30 minutes of both London and Cambridge. The College has a roll of 843 students, both day and boarding, which includes 304 residential boarders. Hockerill has topped the state school Sixth Form league tables for the past three years consecutively and has outperformed many of the top independent schools.

The governors are looking to make a number of appointments within five of the boarding houses. Duties are term time only and include work on a duty roster, including evenings, weekends and possible overnights. Salary is £10.73 per hour, with a minimum commitment of 15 hours per week expected.

PERSON SPECIFICATION

The person (s) appointed will:

- Have relevant and successful experience in dealing with young people.
- Have excellent interpersonal and communication skills and be able to work with colleagues from different disciplines for the benefit of students.

RESPONSIBILITIES

As Boarding House Tutors staff are responsible for assisting the Head of House with the day to day organisation of the House and for the personal development, welfare and academic support of all boarders in the house subject to the general direction of the Director of Boarding.

Boarding House Tutors can be either residential or non-residential.

The application pack can be found on school website:
www.hockerill.com

If you have any queries please contact: Mrs Celestine Faiers, Personnel Officer:
email recruitment@hockerill.com

The closing date for receipt of applications is Monday 9th June 2014
Interviews will be held during week commencing Monday 16th June 2014

Hockerill Anglo-European College is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment.

HARLOW COLLEGE

Harlow College are looking to appoint to the following posts:

Tutor in Motor Vehicles

Salary £24,071 to £28,636 p.a.

The role of the Tutor is to deliver, assess and develop the learner experience to achieve their learning goals. This will also involve the assessment of learner's practical skills in a workshop. This role will also involve delivery of Functional Skills (Maths and English) at Level 1 and 2.

The successful candidate will ideally have a degree or equivalent and relevant teaching and assessing qualifications (or the ability to obtain them). They will also have curriculum knowledge and, where relevant, industrial experience in the Motor industry.

Technician in Motor Vehicles

Salary £16,564 to £22,718 p.a.

The role of a Technician is to participate in the day to day activities of the delivery team, supporting the delivery of learning programmes. This will include the supervision of students and work placements trainees, assisting in the preparation and use of learning materials and equipment as well as monitoring of stock including the ordering and receiving material and equipment.

The successful candidate will have an NVQ Level 3 in Motor Vehicles, proven experience within this type of role in a Motor Vehicle workshop environment as well as knowledge of Health & Safety regulations.

Both posts are permanent and full-time (37 hours per week).

For these posts, the successful candidates can expect investment in their personal and professional development as well as generous annual leave allocation plus bank holidays, contributory pension scheme and other various benefits.

This college is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children, young people and vulnerable adults and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment. This post is subject to an enhanced DBS check.

As an equal opportunities employer we welcome applications from all sections of the community.

Club captain picks Macmillan charity in tribute to golf pal

CANONS Brook Golf Club 2014 captain Alan Grant choose Macmillan Cancer Support as his charity for this year – in tribute to pal Ernie Sands, the man who convinced him to take up the sport in the first place.

The pair joined others to form their own golf society at the Elizabeth Way club.

"We all started playing at the same time," explained Grant (61). We always used to drink at The Shark. We were part of a group of friends and we formed the Shark Golf Society in 1999."

Grant will host his captain's day tournament on June 27.

Pairs are still needed for this competition, which hopes to raise more than £1,000 for Macmillan, the charity which the club have already raised £1,000 for this year.

It is £35 a pair, which included 18 holes of golf, morning coffee and lunch.

Grant first moved to Harlow in 1955.

He played football at senior level, turning out for Stansted, as well as for old Harlow team Standard in the old Essex Intermediate League.

He plays off an 18 handicap.

He said: "It's an incredible honour to be captain. Never in my wildest dreams would I have thought I would be a member of a golf club, let alone captain of my local club."

"To follow the likes of Cyril Beaton – without him the club would not have been created."

To take part in the captain's tournament (members and non-members), call in at the pro shop for an entry form.

Hawks secure runner-up spot in JCVL competition

HARLOW Hawks Basketball Club's Whites team finished runners-up in the U-11 Junior Central Venue League (JCVL).

This competition is hosted by Hawks at Mark Hall Sportscentre.

The last time that Harlow finished in the top two was two seasons ago when one of their teams were champions and undefeated for the season.

The JCVL winners were unbeaten Brentwood Fire.

Hawks U-11 Reds finished in fourth place, a very creditable finish considering that for a lot of the players on the team it was their first experience of playing in this competition.

This season the U-11 JCVL saw the most number of teams (seven) competing in it since Hawks started hosting it seven seasons ago.

The JCVL is the only organised league in the area for primary aged children in school years 4-6 which has multiple clubs playing in it.

The teams can be mixed, a number of clubs have girls and Hawks had two in each team this season.

In addition to the Hawks teams and champions Brentwood, the other teams that competed in the league this season were Hertfordshire Warriors (Watford based), Stevenage Scorpions, Cambridge Cats and Braintree Bluedevils.

The U-11 JCVL is an event that is held once a month, with six rounds in total and this season each team played four games per event.

Hawks head coach Shab Niaz explained: "The purpose of this age group JCVL is not just the development of the players but also the young Hawks referees who started officiating in it last season and have grown into competent officials for the league."

"In addition to the refs, the Hawks senior team do their part for the development league by helping out with table officiating for each of the events. The rules of the league ensure that all players from each team get a fairly equal amount of playing time."

"This age group league will start to become more popular because for the first time in 2012 there was an U-11 inter-counties age group tournament."

"At this year's tournament Hawks had six players representing their counties (four boys and two girls) and they hope to have more in the future doing the same."

"Out of these, Amilah Niaz, Amelia Shaves and Will Eldridge were selected for the East Region girls and boys selection squads respectively following this year's inter-counties tournament, which is an excellent achievement by them."

"If they make the final team they will be playing in Sheffield against other regional teams."

"The U-11 JCVL was where it started for Harlow's young basketball star Joshua Steel and a few other players who went on to play at Junior National League level over the years. The level that Joshua has reached too so far shows the current basketball youngsters of what can potentially be achieved."

Young team showing age no barrier in Essex Youth Shield

YOUNG players at Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club came to the fore as they secured a comprehensive 4-1 victory over Loughton in their second Essex Youth Shield division two match of the season.

There were wins for four of the five members of the team from the Elizabeth Way club.

Greg Tye (16), from Harlow, won 1up. He plays off a handicap of 21.

Aiden Eldred (12) beat his opponents 2&1. He plays off 24. Dan Colby (12), triumphed 3&1. He plays off 24.

Josh Peachey (13), who lives in Harlow, won 2up. He plays off 25.

Adam McNicholas (14) lost his match 7&5. He plays off 7.

Previously the team lost 3-2 to Hainault Forest GC.

On this occasion the side was made up of Aiden, Dan and Josh, plus George Wright (10), from Harlow and who plays off 24, and Michael Blackman (16), who also lives in Harlow and plays off 28.

Canons Brook GC head pro Mark Smith has been coaching the children.

He was determined to strengthen the youth set-up at the club from when he returned to Canons Brook a few years back.

"We have a new younger youth shield team. Since coming back to

TO THE FORE: The successful Essex Youth Shield squad from Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club (s)

Canons Brook I have been working on the junior section looking for the newest of superstars," he said.

"There are eight potential stars at the moment."

"The competition is for U-18s so we have a very young team that will get better and stronger. The division two is a handicap competition. We have very high handicaps compared to Hainault, there's were 4-5-7-8-10, so were receiving a lot of shots."

Aiden was winning through nine, but lost 3&2 against Hainault.

Dan went birdie, birdie late on, chipping in on one hole, but lost 3&1.

George played an opponent six years older than him and who played off 7. Receiving 17 shots he was all square on the last.

George hit his drive further than his opponent, hit his next shot on to the green and then putted home for a par to win the match 1up.

Josh was playing a 16-year-old off 8. He won eight of the first 11 holes to triumph 8&7.

Michael was all square through nine but lost 5&4.

Smith added: "This was the first time many of the boys had played in a match and they were a credit to the club and all played very well."

The other player yet to feature in the youth shield this season is Jamal Marshall (14), who lives in Harlow and plays off 27.

GOLFER GABRIELLA COWLEY IS GUNNING FOR THE YANKS AS SHE GEARS UP FOR HER CURTIS CUP DEBUT NEXT WEEK

Psychologist's advice giving golfer Gab mental edge

Cowley hopes US debut's a platform to pro career

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A SPORTS psychologist has added a new dimension to the game of Gabriella Cowley – and means she is supremely confident as she gets ready for her Curtis Cup debut.

The 18-year-old, who plays off +4, will represent Great Britain and Ireland when she competes in the top team competition for women amateur golfers at St Louis, Missouri from June 6-8.

Cowley, of Threshers Barn in Harlow, has been seeing sports psychologist Dan Abrahams since January.

He has helped massively and the proof is in the pudding – Cowley has already won the Nations Cup this year, when representing England with 17-year-old playing partner Annabel Dimmock.

She has also enjoyed success at the Portuguese Amateur Open, finishing as runner-up.

Cowley knows the nerves will build up as the competition progresses and says her sports psychologist Abrahams has helped her with controlling the mental pressure.

Psychologists have had a huge impact in sport over recent years.

Golfers in particular have used them to make sure they do not suffer Greg Norman-style collapses on the final day while leading major tournaments.

Norman went to pieces at the 1996 Masters at Augusta as he threw away a big lead to lose to England's Nick Faldo, shooting a disastrous 78.

Despite her tender years Cowley has a mental edge which belies her age.

"It's about controlling yourself. I am seeing a psychologist as an individual. I only started to see him from January. It's much better," she explained.

"I don't really get annoyed as much, and I don't get as nervous. It's all in the mind.

"It's confidence as well, he has given me more confidence. I am just going to go and play and enjoy it."

It is the short 3ft and 4ft putts which could well decide whether GB&I retain the trophy they won two years ago – and end a 20-year run of not winning in this famous competition on American soil – and Cowley is well aware of that.

"When it comes to putting the pressure is there. I struggled with my putting last year, but I worked hard at it in Spain [at a training camp] and my putting is really good now.

"It's just practising those three or four footers.

"I have practised those a lot since I was picked, as those are the shots that are going to win you the match."

Cowley was just 12 when she took up golf, and spent four years at the West Essex Golf Club in Chingford.

She now plays at Hanbury Manor in Ware.

She is coached by Paul Holland, based at Highlands Golf Club in Chelmsford. He took over as her coach in October.

"He has helped me with my irons, compressing the ball. He has helped a lot," she added.

GABRIELLA Cowley hopes Curtis Cup success for Great Britain and Ireland in just over a week's time can be the springboard to a professional career in the United States.

Cowley (18), of Threshers Barn in Harlow, plans to turn professional in December and is hoping to secure a place on the U.S. Women's Tour, the toughest circuit for female players in the world.

The golfer will make her Curtis Cup debut in the tournament which runs from June 6-8, and is being held at the St Louis Country Club in Missouri.

Cowley, who has never played in the USA before, explained: "I'm looking to turn pro in December.

"American golf is massive. It's where you want to be. The America Women's Tour is so much better than the European Tour.

"It will be great just to go there and see how good the Americans are, because I want to play on the American Tour, so to see what they are doing and how good they are, will be good to see."

Cowley, who plays off +4, won the 2013 England Golf girls' order of merit title.

This year she has already won the Nations Cup for England, with 17-year-old pal Annabel Dimmock, who is also in the Curtis Cup team.

Cowley was also runner-up in the Portuguese Women's Amateur Open, so headed to the USA on Monday in tip-top form and brimming with confidence.

The youngster, who only turned 18 in March, flew to Atlanta for a training camp with the GB&I team, as the golfers acclimatise to the climate and conditions, practising on two different courses in Georgia.

From there they will head to Missouri to practise on the St Louis course.

"We are having a week in Atlanta just practising and getting used to the climate. Then we are getting a flight and doing a week's training before the tournament starts, so we are going for two weeks," Cowley explained.

"We will have a week's practice in Atlanta and then a week's practice in Missouri."

GB&I won the tournament – women amateur golf's equivalent of the Ryder Cup – when it was last played two years ago in Scotland, so only need to draw to retain the cup.

However,

Cowley says they are desperate to actually beat the Americans on their home soil for the first time since 1986. They won it as holders in America in 1994, but actually drew that match.

"We will be underdogs. The American team, all their players are in the top 20 in the world, in America they are playing every week and in good weather. It's a bit different."

The GB&I team is captained and managed by experienced golfer Tegwin Matthews.

"She captained the team [the last time the Curtis Cup was played two years ago]. Great Britain won, which was the first time in ages. This was in Scotland," Cowley said.

"Tegwin is the most experienced player in the Great Britain and Ireland team. I will be listening to her and taking in what she says."

Explaining the format, Cowley said: "It's fourballs and foursomes for the first two days and then the final day is just singles."

"Two people won't be playing every time, but during the day you would expect to play at least once, either the fourballs or the foursomes or both. Everyone will play the singles."

"It's the biggest thing in amateur golf, that's what everyone in amateur golf tries for."

"There are two people who have played before. I'm the second youngest that's going. Everyone is older, but to get picked is just brilliant at this stage."

Cowley knows combating the heat and humidity in Missouri, in the deep South of the USA, will be tough. "I have played in Australia and when I was there we had the hottest day in history, so dealing with [the Curtis Cup] is not going to be much harder than that," she said.

She has not had much experience of the foursomes and fourballs format at the Curtis Cup, but is confident she can adapt well.

"I have played foursomes at home internationals that I have played in the last three or four years for England, girls and ladies. That's the only time. There's not really many team tournaments, it's more individual and single events," she explained.

"We will practise it in Atlanta to get used to it."

She is pleased her friend Dimmock will be out there with her, while her parents Theresa and Carl will also be in the crowd watching her.

"We've played together quite a lot and know each other's games. We might get picked to play together," Cowley said hopefully.

Cowley says her driving is the strongest part of her game, as she gets distance and accuracy. "This will help me; if I can drive long and birdie the harder holes I can do well," she said.

The Essex golfer has just returned from a training camp in Spain to help her prepare for the dry and hot conditions expected in Missouri.

"I went to train in Spain to try and get ready for this. I went there because the winter is so bad here."

"I was working on my swing there, and I was training and playing out there."

The youngster joined Hanbury Manor in 2013, and practices there several times each week. "It's a great course. They have all the facilities and the gym. I go there for the day and do everything," she added.

Bowen bounces back from horrific crash

LUKE Bowen showed he is made of some tough stuff as he bounced back from his horrific crash last week to star for the Rye House Rockets in their 49-40 Premier League meeting with Plymouth Devils 49-40 on Sunday.

The Harlow speedway star secured vital points for the Hoddesdon team.

His colleague Edward Kennett once again thrilled the crowd with his never-say-die fighting spirit.

Jason Garrity was also in fine fettle, with a 14-point haul from his six races.

Two 5-1s in successive heats from skipper Jason Bunyan and Steve Boxall, and then Bowen and Garrity in an outstanding race, gave Rockets a 14-10 lead.

In Heat 10, Kennett and Bowen claimed a 5-1 to put the result beyond doubt.

Rockets promoter Len Silver said: "It was a very, very satisfactory result. To get full league points against a team who probably ride this track better than their own track, I'm very proud of my boys this afternoon. There's a good spirit around the camp and it was a good crowd as well."

Rockets host Ipswich in the Premier League this Saturday (7pm).

Athletes' medal haul at county champs

YOUNG athletes from Harlow were celebrating a haul of medals from the Essex County Championships.

While there were gold medals for Harlow Athletic Club members Naomi Harryman and Will Marklew, to go with the county golds they won the previous week, Harlow-based athletes Markus Hunt and Alex Hill also took pole position in their events.

A silver medal was also gained by Canaan Solomon at Chelmsford, while Harlow AC athlete Teale Cunningham took a bronze.

Meanwhile, Harlow AC's Ellie Williams and Mohamed Tamedou took five medals between them at the Herts County Championships in Watford, while club-mate James Murphy claimed two bronze medals in the Cambridgeshire County Champs at Peterborough.

At the Essex Championships, Harryman won the U-17 high jump (1.65m).

Marklew threw 50m-plus several times on his way to becoming U-17 javelin champion.

In the U-15 age group, Cunningham achieved a personal best (PB) of 1.65m to secure bronze in the boys' high jump.

Hunt (23), now at Chelmsford AC, reclaimed his 400m men's county title in 48.85s. The former junior GB international will represent Essex on July 13 at Mile End, East London.

Hill (Herts Phoenix) set a new PB of 57.75s in winning the senior women's 400m and will now represent Essex at the same meeting.

He also ran a brilliant 800m to seal a second silver in 1:54.02, which placed him fifth in the UK. At Watford, Tamedou began his day by clocking a PB of 11.48s in the U-17 boys' 100m.

He went on to record a PB in the U-17 high jump (1.80m). Williams, despite carrying a knee injury, picked up a hat-trick of bronzes in the discus (20.45m), javelin (18.88m) and triple jump (7.74m) respectively.

Meanwhile, at Peterborough, Murphy, who has only just started competitive athletics, claimed two bronze medals in the 800m and the long jump. Both his 800m time of 2:29.04 and his jump of 3.94m were PBs.

"It has been a busy couple of weeks for the club's athletes," said club coach Steve Lott. "It has been great to learn of all of the individuals' successes and I hope they are very proud of themselves, they certainly should be."

"As a club we're enjoying a certain 'reflected glory' from their successes and I know that people in the athletic community are beginning to take notice of Harlow again."

Several Harlow-based athletes also competed in the Essex Championships.

Jodi Ratcliff (15), a Mark Hall student, was fourth in the U-17 girls' 800m final (2:27).

St Nicholas pupil Zoe Benton (15) was fourth in the U-17 girls' 300m final (42.19, PB).

Rosie Poole (14), a Stewards pupil, was fourth in the U-17 girls' 1,500m final in 5:04.8.

Mark Hall student Brandon Schibchurn (14) was fourth in the U-15 boys' 100m final (12.13s).

In the U-13 girls' 1,500m final, 12-year-old Hannah Page, a Burnt Mill student, was eighth in 5:41.

At Watford last Wednesday, Burnt Mill pupil Kyesha Robinson (12) was fourth in a mixed 400m in 64.2s, a PB which ranks her fourth in the UK U-15 girls.

Town to face Ramprakash's Stanmore in Conference Cup

HARLOW Town have secured a plum draw in the Conference Cup, which might see former England Test player and Strictly Come Dancing champion Mark Ramprakash make a trip to Ash Tree Field.

The home tie against Middlesex-based Stanmore is on Sunday June 15.

Ramprakash, pictured right, has previously turned out for Stanmore since retiring from county cricket with Middlesex.

Former England Test bowler Angus Fraser also turns out for the Londoners.

The tie is Town's reward for causing a huge seven-wicket upset away to Shepherd Neame Essex League division one outfit Hadleigh & Thundersley. It was the Harlow club's first taste of Conference Cup action, but they easily mounted the two-division gap between the two sides thanks to a magnificent performance in the field.

Skipper Ashley Alderson won the toss and decided to field first in the 45 overs a side match.

The breakthrough came in only the second over as Daniel Farmer sent Tibbenham back.

Two more Hadleigh wickets quickly fell as the Town captain found his range.

Then 9-3 became 39-4 before a fifth wicket made it 40-5 and the hosts were in desperate trouble.

Hadleigh struggled on a wicket that assisted the bowlers and only managed to stick around for 23 overs in total, scraping together just 76 runs.

The Town's fielding and bowling were excellent with skipper Ashley picking up 4-28.

His brother, Shaun Alderson, chipped in with 3-12 and Dan Farmer, who started the rout, knocked over the last man to finish with 2-19.

With such an early end to the innings the teams turned straight round and saw Jason Gladwin and Matt Hurley back in the pavilion with only five runs on the board.

However, a 59-run partnership between Tom Price (34 not out) and Shiraz Ali (15) steadied the innings before the latter fell with the score on 64.

Charlie Coleman joined Price and the pair finished the innings off in just 19.2 overs to win by seven wickets.

Neither Harlow Town nor Harlow were in Shepherd Neame Essex League action at the weekend due to the rain on Saturday.
